"No-one lives for hundreds of years, yet the memoirs of Hugh Dempsey read like the recollections of a man who has observed history for centuries ... this historian who married into the history of the West provides an unparalleled perspective on the Canadian experience."

—DAVID FINCH, HISTORIAN, Alberta Views, MARCH 2011

Hugh A. Dempsey is one of Alberta's most prolific and influential public historians. Author of more than twenty books, he has also been "in on the ground floor" of the development of many key Alberta institutions, including the Indian Association of Alberta, the Historical Society of Alberta, and the Glenbow Museum. Now, in his own words, he recounts his interesting and varied careers as journalist, government publicity writer, popular historian, archivist and museum administrator, speaker, and lecturer.

Dempsey is both a witness to and a participant in Western history. Written with the trademark Hugh Dempsey eye for detail and lively anecdote, this memoir will be essential and enjoyable reading for anyone interested in Western and First Nations history and the growth of key Alberta cultural institutions.

HUGH A. DEMPSEY is Chief Curator Emeritus of the Glenbow Museum in Calgary and, for more than 50 years, editor of Alberta History magazine. He is one of western Canada's most respected historical authors. His books include The Amazing Death of Calf Shirt and Other Blackfoot Stories, and The Golden Age of the Canadian Cowboy. In 1953 he married Pauline Gladstone, daughter of James Gladstone, president of the Indian Association of Alberta. He served as honorary secretary of that organization from 1959 to 1964. In 1967 he was made an honorary chief of the Kainai Blackfoot. Dempsey was awarded an honorary doctorate from the University of Calgary (and lectured there on Native studies and Alberta history), invested as a member of the Order of Canada, and honoured by the Archives Society of Alberta and the Canadian Historical Association.
