

Open Source Stock Photo

A Sea of Future Feelings

Osinakachi Akuma Kalu

Nigeria

Just as there stands the ocean
With many boats on its vast bosom
each boat carrying people
Facing complex challenges
So we are in our world,
Same struggle same complexities.

Always in a struggle
Like the old philosophical conflict
Causing confusion to the self
Objective decision a challenge
Not knowing the outcome
How safe is the self?

Just like the world of good and evil
A result of how you conduct your affairs
So is emotion
Positive or negative alike
Whether fear or love.

One's world is mixed with feelings
In a complex world
With disruptive technology
We swim in the sea of future worries
What could be our fate in the future?
If our fear(s) are not contained.

Marching into a strange age, lost in fear
What if the ancients visit
They may not sit
Because the rearranged setting
Needs a long seating to understand
To cope in a place of their formal setting.

Creating a fear based society
In the name of improving lives
Such blatant lies!
Humanity needs a better existence
And not a fearful one.

Now that the world appears evolving
Reality might be devolving
Since reality as such is now manipulated
There is no longer harmony in nature
A hiatus, causing a complete chaos in nature.

Where is the beauty of nature?
Now it is raped of its locus
As everything goes artificial
Who will cover mother nature?
An utmost concern to emotive educator.

Swimming in the sea of fear
Living in hopelessness

One ought to learn
To master the emotion
So as to thread on the right path
A better existential experience
Lead your fear.

-OAK

Free Verse Poem

Based on the implication of fearism in transhumanism;
(i.e., existential fearism)

15th February 2019.